100% HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION RATE CELEBRATED FOR 9TH CONSECUTIVE YEAR AT THE WOODEN FLOOR

SANTA ANA, Calif. (May 29, 2013) – In a stark contrast to the 63% national graduation rate for other under-served Latino high school youth¹, 100% of graduates from The Wooden Floor will finish high school on time and immediately enroll in college. An innovative arts-based youth development organization, The Wooden Floor provides its 375 primarily Latino students with year-round dance, academic, and family service programs, arming them with problem-solving, collaboration, and creative thinking skills to become the next leaders of our community.

Almost all students at The Wooden Floor attend tuition-free and fall under the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) poverty classification of “very low income” to “extremely low income.” The Wooden Floor successfully helps its students overcome the obstacles of poverty through a long-term arts immersion process, combined with college preparatory programs, academic workshops, tutoring, and family services. Over their 10 years with the organization, students develop the ability to think differently about themselves and learn how to innovate, communicate, and collaborate—necessary 21st century skills for school, work, and life.

“By 2050, over 50% Orange County’s population will be Latino,” states Dawn S. Reese Executive Director and Co-CEO of The Wooden Floor in reference to a recent report by the State of California Department of Finance. “It is important that we give these students access to the arts and higher education, which will not only change their lives for the better, but will create a massive ripple effect as they become change-agents within their families, their neighborhoods, this community, and globally.”

This fall, many of The Wooden Floor’s graduates will become the first in their family to attend college. They will attend prominent universities such as UC Irvine, UC Santa Cruz, Chapman University, CSU Long Beach, and CSU San Diego. Like the 132 alumni of The Wooden Floor currently in college, most of the graduates will earn merit-based college scholarships from The Wooden Floor totaling $4,000 to $10,000 over their college career. Many students of The Wooden Floor say that without this financial assistance, attending college would not be possible.

About The Wooden Floor

Founded in 1983, The Wooden Floor is a Santa Ana arts-based organization that delivers hope and opportunity to 375 low-income youth annually. Dance education and performance are the core transformational elements through which youth change the way they think about themselves and aspire beyond the grip of the poverty cycle. In the dance studio, rigorous training, creativity, and self-knowledge lead to confidence, leadership, teamwork, well-being, and joy. Academic programs, pre-collegiate mentoring, and college scholarships ensure that students succeed in school and are college-ready. Since 2005, 100 percent of graduates from The Wooden Floor have enrolled in college, exceeding the national average for their peers threefold. Family Services at The Wooden Floor, including counseling, crisis intervention, and social service referrals help families overcome hardships and navigate challenges. Community support enables these year-round programs to be offered free of charge. Bringing about generational change to break the cycle of poverty in our community is the long-term goal of The Wooden Floor.
